Peter Langone captivates the creative world with his ability to direct as well as photograph. Langone has maintained a studio and residency in New York and Florida since 1977. Today his ultramodern and unique sense of lighting have earned him international acclaim with clients such as Mercedes-Benz, Coca-Cola, Anheuser-Busch, Marc Anthony, Donald Trump, and many more. Langone cinematically tells a story with his commercials, music videos, books, short films, and still photography. Peters next big project is to film a motion picture. With a passion for movie making, he will be telling a story titled "Shades of Davani" that represents a life well known of love, violence, obstacles, and triumph. Peter has currently finished this script and is in the 1st phase of production with this movie. He is now working on his 2nd script "Marco" a love story about a young photographer that rises to the top and realizes through some unfortunate events how to find himself again.
